Fire Chiefs to Converge On Area Later in Month

Many of Southern California's more than 300 fire chiefs will converge on the South Bay area on July 20 for a one-day meeting at the Riviera Beach Club and surrounding resort attractions, it was announced this week.

Host for the meeting of the Southern California Fire Chief's Association will be Herbert Mott, Jr., chief of the Redondo Beach Fire Department. Other South Bay chiefs including Torrance's J. J. Benner are hard at work getting the program set-up for the meeting.

Although a business meeting is the reason for the gathering, fire chiefs of the area are busy rounding out an attractive "extra-curricular" program for the visiting firemen, Chief Benner said.

A wide range of activities will be made available to the chiefs and their guests following the business meeting. On the agenda tickets to the Hollywood Park race track, the run of the Palms Verdes and Alondra golf courses, deep sea fishing, water taxi rides, and other forms of outdoor entertainment.

Movie Stars Leo Carrillo and Frank Jenks head the list of entertainers.

Airman Begins Training Course

Pfc. Ronald J. Booker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Booker, of Torrance, has arrived in Greeley, Colorado, where he will undergo a 12-week period of training as a member of the U. S. Air Force 3464th School Squadron at Colorado State College of Education.
